

The Serving Circle

The community of heart-centered business owners who come together to help each other grow from a place of selfless service

If you are here, odds are you are following your heart's calling and trying to build a success business in a way that's aligned. This journey brings up a lot of challenges:

- 'How do I make money doing this?'
- 'What are other people going to think?'
- 'What if this doesn't work out?'

That's why we created the Serving Circle Facebook Community. A place where you can:

- 1) Share audiences to help expand your reach
- 2) Organise service exchanges to solve main challenges
- 3) Organise collaborations and referral systems to find new clients

The main way we do this is through posting in the group and attending the weekly zoom Collaboration calls. The link can be found in the group when you join.

Here is the link to the community: <https://www.facebook.com/groups/theservingcircle>

Spirit in business Online course

Create the inner shifts necessary to achieve a consistent and predictable flow of clients

For those who would love to join the Serving Circle FB community, you also gain complimentary access into the online course called Spirit In Business.

After coaching hundreds of online business owners, I realised that many people are building their businesses from a place of fear and scarcity. You know this when:

- You feel as though you need to succeed to feel worthy
- You need to make money to feel safe
- Your mind wants to remain comfort and familiarity

It's these patterns that hold most people back unconsciously from reaching the level of income and impact that their heart is calling them towards.

That's why I created the Spirit in Business course!

What you will learn:

- Navigate any uncomfortable emotion that emerges
- Condition your internal resourcefulness to solve any challenge
- Remove self-sabotaging patterns and lead with the heart
- Make the shifts so your business strategies actually work!

Here is the link to join: <https://tyson-coaching.mykajabi.com/offers/otwQ7mi9>